GENERAL DANIEL JAMES, JR.

General Daniel James, Jr., is Commander in Chief, North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), a bi-national military command consisting of United States and Canadian air defense forces. Headquarters for NORAD is Peterson Air Force Base in Colorado Springs, Colo. General James also serves as Commander in Chief, United States Air Force Aerospace Defense Command (ADCOM), the United States element of NORAD. In these dual capacities, General James has operational command of all United States and Canadian strategic aerospace defense forces. He is responsible for surveillance and air defense of North American airspace and for providing warning and assessment of hostile attack on the continent from bombers or missiles.

General James was born on February 11, 1920, in Pensacola, Fla., where he graduated from Washington High School in June 1937. He attended Tuskegee Institute, from September 1937 to March 1942, where he received a bachelor of science degree in physical education and completed civilian pilot training under the Government-sponsored Civilian Pilot Training Program.
